What is Rory?

Rory is a learning resource for children of primary school age.

The resource pack is based on the Rory storybook which tells the story of a dog who is confused and upset by his owner Fred's unpredictable behaviour. Rory's life improves when he confides in his friend Felix who explains that Fred is behaving this way because he drinks too much alcohol.

Rory aims to build resilience and protective factors in children and encourages the exploration of emotions and importance of relationships and asking for help.

Rory has been independently evaluated and provides teachers with a range of creative resources and lessons linked to the curriculum for excellence.

Training Programme

Free Supporting children affected by parental alcohol use training is now available* in your area funded by Greater Glasgow & Clyde

A half day interactive programme provides learners with a mix of theory and skills practice.

On completing training learners will:

- Have greater awareness of the impacts of parental alcohol use on children and families.
- Be better able to identify children who are, or may be affected by parental drinking.
- Be more confident to manage disclosure about parents drinking.
- Have enhanced awareness of the problems caused by alcohol in Scotland.

On completion of the programme learners will receive a Rory resource pack and access to the Rory online network which provides additional materials and access to ongoing support.
